Matteo Venturini

Matteo Venturini was born in Florence in 1981. He graduated cum laude from the 'L. Cherubini' Conservatory of Florence, obtaining a diploma in Organ and Organ Composition (2005) and a diploma in Composition (2007). He continued his studies at the Musikhochschule in Freiburg, under the tutelage of Professor Klemens Schnorr, receiving an honours diploma in Organ Performance (2008). Later he studied at the Pontificio Istituto di Musica Sacra in Rome, where he obtained a postgraduate diploma with honours in Organ Improvisation (2011) under Professor Theo Flury. In 2013 he was awarded an honours diploma in Academic Studies at the Perugia Music Conservatory, under the supervision of Professor Luca Scandali, for his thesis on Daniel Magnus Gronau's organ works.

Winner of eight competitions for organ, including the third international Andrea Antico da Montona competition in Croatia (2008), Matteo Venturini performs as a concert musician in prestigious international music festivals in Europe and America. He has recorded 14 albums for labels including OnClassical, E Plus, EMA Records, Fugatto and Brilliant Classics; he has also published his own compositions as well as editions of choral and organ music for the publishers Carrara and EurArte, and has recorded for BBC Radio 3, Vatican Radio, Croatian National Radio and Südwestrundfunk in Germany.

He is organist of the church of Saints Jacopo and Lucia and at the Cathedral of Santa Maria Assunta and San Genesio in San Miniato (Pisa). He is also a visiting professor at the Organistas de México Association of Mexico City and at the 'L. Cherubini' Conservatory in Florence, and teaches composition, organ and music theory at the 'Giuseppe Bonamici' Music School in Pisa.
